President Dan Cheung's Summer 2022 Message to HKAC / Sam Yuk Alumni & Friends

Do you ever come to visit the campus of Hong Kong Adventist College during summer while there is no classes being taught, there are no students exercising, there is no young children playing at the playground, and there is no parents bringing their children to the school? Though the sun is bright and the air is warm, it is just quiet on the Clear Water Bay campus. Sometimes it is too hot around the noon time that we don't even hear the birds singing.

As you are walking under the summer sun, you can seriously feel the heat of the sun. But as you stop under a tree or in the shade of a nearby building, you will definitely feel the gentle breeze blowing from the South Pacific Ocean. The cool soft breeze will make you forget the heat of the hot blazing sun. If you ever come to visit in the evening time, you certainly would realize that this campus always stay cool at night all summer long.

HKAC President Dan Cheung

Clear Water Bay view beyond the volleyball court

When you enter the campus through the front gate, you immediately sense the tranquility of this college campus. Everything seems to move slower. People are walking slower, cars are moving slower, and even our hearts seem beating slower. You don't dare to speak so loud that might disturb the peacefulness of the surrounding. Your first impression of the campus might be it is so green here. The trees full of green leaves and the lawns cover with green grass bring healing sensation to our eyes. While strolling along the campus circular road, you would discover flowers with various color and shape. You might even smell the fragrances, before you see the gorgeous flowers.

For those who have visited the back of King Huy Hall on a summer afternoon, you would remember where you can see the beautiful ocean view and the gentle cool breeze coming up from the beach below. The ocean view there is so breathtaking that you can spend a few hours there reading a book, visiting friends, meditating, or just doing nothing.

As for me, though the campus is quiet and peaceful during the summer, I still prefer seeing students on campus, faculty teaching in the classrooms, traffic going in and out of the front gate, and the noise of young people laughing, singing, and talking. During summer months, I miss people and activities being on campus. I enjoy being on a campus which is alive with movements and filled with joy and happiness. I look forward to the busy atmosphere that will be back on campus in a month when the Fall 2022 semester starts.

Whenever you have the time, come to visit the campus of Hong Kong Adventist College to relive the life you enjoyed so much when you were young. I can assure you that anytime of the year will be good--either on a sunny day, a cloudy day, or even on a rainy day.

The campus welcomes all HKAC, South China Union College, and Sam Yuk Middle School alumni who wish to stop by to enjoy the botanical paradise with their family.

We hope your visits will allow you to reminisce about your nostalgic, happy school days.

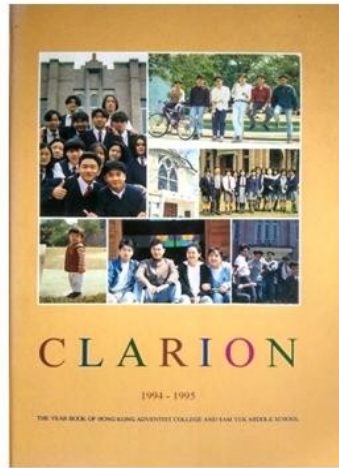

Perhaps you will also consider sending your family's next generation to HKAC to enjoy its high quality of teaching, its caring ambiance, and its faith-based spirit!
